

Notes

- maybe zip up the dependencies and add something to the readme about how you can unzip and use them in your dir if you trust me heh
- the cache can be the same for all matter types, it'll just be important that each piece of each identifier can be broken out into a meaningful structure in terms of the piece of matter that it identifies

